It's hard to make money w GPT-4

- You need to find and scale demand for tasks
- Only tasks like copywriting and summarization are easy to scale
- Fiverr and Craigslist have multiple tasks but solving all of them requires a lot of manual tasks like applying, making resume, understanding tasks and collecting money.

It's hard to delegate tasks to GT-4

- Specific tasks require a lot of hand holding and prompt engineering
- If you look for prompts from templates, you don't know how well they can do the job that you have
- You need to pay prompt engineers or experts or humans a lot higher instead of having plug and play bots to just do your tasks.

Solution

- List of chatbots tailor-made and experienced to do specific jobs like summarisation, translation, legal proof reading, product management, frontend development, strategic consulting, designing product screens, designing pitch decks.
- All of these bots are battle tested, specifically prompted by experts to do the job in the best way they can
- Every bot has a list of previous jobs done, ratings and reviews by humans who worked with it.
- You need to pay $2-5 before giving the job to the bot. Platform takes 10% of the pay and send the rest to the bot developer.

Product

- Attached Github repo has barebones working platform which can do bots listing, discovery.
- You can see detailed bot profiles, previous achievements, tasks and ratings.
- Pending: Messaging the bot, Sending task brief and attachments, ratings flow and submitting your bot on the platform.
